

Spring Break Cruises '09

March and April 2009

*Which cruise line and what itinerary is right for YOU?
Let the experts in managing Spring Break Trips help you make the right choice.*

Here is a sampling of cruise options we have for you:

7 night Western Caribbean from Miami

Ports of Call: Cozumel, Grand Cayman, and Ocho Rios, Jamaica.

The spectacular Carnival Liberty, 110,000 tons of fun is one of Carnival's newest ships—and it will knock your socks off! Alternative dining, the world-class Spa Carnival and live entertainment day and night make going ashore almost an interruption to your fun! The Carnival Seaside Theatre – a 12-foot-high by 22-foot-wide LED screen located poolside on the Lido deck – shows Movies Under the Stars, sporting events and video concerts. The Carnival Liberty is as much an attraction as the destinations themselves!

5 night Western Caribbean from New Orleans

Ports of Call: Cozumel and Costa Maya.

For a shorter cruise along with a day or two in one of America's most exciting cities, be on board the Carnival Fantasy as she sails to Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula on Mondays.

7-night Eastern Caribbean from Miami

Ports of Call: St. Maarten, San Juan and Labadee.

The mammoth, new 158,000 ton Liberty of the Seas is a bit like its own private island with non-stop activities. Imagine having a rock-climbing wall, a skating rink and a surf simulator right on board as you travel to the Virgin Islands and San Juan. Spa & Fitness Center, jogging track, sports courts, FantaSeas Teen Club, Video Zone, Internet Café, and much more such as 24-hour food— a must for teens await.

5 night Western Caribbean from Ft Lauderdale

Ports of Call: Grand Cayman and Ocho Rios, Jamaica.

Sail away aboard the 142,000 ton Royal Caribbean Navigator of the Seas on Saturdays. This exciting ship provides most of the "fun" of her big sister as described above.

7-night Mexican Riviera from Los Angeles

Ports of Call: Mazatlan, Puerto Vallarta and Cabo San Lucas.

Going back to the TV series, "Love Boat", Princess has been synonymous with luxury at sea and the spectacular 113,000 ton Sapphire Princess sets even a higher standard. Sail with her on Saturdays for this adventurous journey along Mexico's scenic Pacific coast. There is never a dull moment aboard this floating resort and Princess' cuisine and entertainment is exceptional.

Our expertise enables you to make the right decision and to avoid the pitfalls.
